EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

McKee's Trial—Voorhees' Defense.

St Louis, Jan. 29.—The court room was thronged this morning in anticipation of the argument of D. W. Voorhees closing the defense of Wm. McKee for alleged complicity in the whisky frauds. The doors were opened at 10 o'clock and a limited number admitted, after which the crowd pressed against the doors hour after hour catching the drift of the address through an open transom. Voorhees poured out his invective upon the accomplices who had sworn for the government, and then compared with them the defendant, a resident of St Louis for 34 years, whose character had never been called up to the time of this charge. He said that the jury had never been called on to try a man of such towering character, such a pure exponent of political and social principles. If such a man was to be hounded to death by informers, perjurers and scoundrels, what was life or rectitude worth? Some of the noblest blood in old England fell upon the block through [illegible] charges of conspiracy sustained by men who turned state's evidence. So fully alive to this danger did England become that for one hundred years not one man has been convicted by such means. If you allow dishonest men to tell their infamous stories and at the same time close [illegible] of the honest citizen whom they prosecute, if you give credence to uncorroborated testimony, then we will have the strange spectacle not of honest men prosecuting the lawless but of rogues and thieves prosecuting good citizens. How can [illegible] lies end and truth begin? God forbid that the government should need such men as these to represent it. The majority of 40,000,000 of people are honest and it is a [illegible] for the government to come into court surrounded by thieves and perjurers to prosecute honest citizens. If McKee could go upon the stand and deny the statements of these scoundrels his story would be entitled to belief—theirs is not. But under the law he is not permitted to do that. It was [illegible] congratulation that a Congressional committee is now considering favorably a bill that will permit an honest man to go upon the stand and contradict the perjuries of men who are hired to ruin him. McKee's denial outweighed the oaths of a thousand perjurers and the [illegible] upright to destroy his life on such unsupported testimony. The only logical conclusion from these witnesses' testimony is that his own witnesses [illegible] be credited by any jury. If McKee is found guilty, the jury will decide that every man should lie at the mercy of villains and that the jury is a weapon against honest men.

The speaker then took up the witnesses in turn [illegible] their testimony and poured forth such a torrent of denunciation and invective against each as perhaps never been heard here. No words were too bitter, no epithets too opprobrious to cast upon the conspirators. They had cheated and [illegible] the government and attempted to drag into their own level a pure and honest man. If the government depended on men like these [illegible] is gloomy indeed. If such a system [illegible] it is a standing advertisement for rogues [illegible] to sacrifice reputable citizens to save themselves.

[illegible] Read followed, closing the argument. [illegible] was unpretentious, devoted to giving in a concise and connected form for the jury the [illegible] particular stress upon the fact that [illegible] had freely admitted the existence of [illegible] by evidence of accomplices [illegible] when the same kind of testimony was [illegible] directly against their client, they pronounced it perjured and worthy of no consideration. He pronounced the testimony of Louis Bahlb[illegible] [illegible] Fogelke's interview with McKee as ex[illegible] improbable. It was absurd that McKee [illegible] a stranger that he would use his influence with Collector Maguire to have seized goods [illegible].

[illegible] Read finished, the court adjourned. The jury is to be instructed Monday and the case given to them by noon.

Osage Indian Outbreak in Kansas.

Leavenworth, Jan. 29.—A special to the Leavenworth Times from Camp Supply, Indian Territory, says that on the night of the 24th inst. messengers arrived at this post with news that a party of Osages had stolen 60 head of cattle from camps Lee and Reynolds, about 25 miles south of here. The herders sent into this place to procure aid. Major Gordon, fifth cavalry, commanding the post, immediately ordered pursuit to be made. Lieut. Bishop with 150 men started the same night, with orders to punish the Indians, should they be overtaken, and if necessary to pursue them to their agency and demand the surrender of thieves and stolen stock. Scout Amos Chapman accompanied the command as guide. A detachment of this force returned to-day bringing as prisoners three squaws, one boy and 5 Indian ponies. About noon the 25th Lieut. Bishop arrived near the Indian camp, located in high grass, the ponies grazing on the neighboring hills. The Indians were taken by surprise, being dismounted and unable to escape, but made a determined fight. Three Indians were killed and three wounded, who escaped, and the whole band dispersed.

Her husband was found near the hog pen on his place, also frozen stiff. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of frozen to death while under the effects of intoxicating liquor.

Russia Averse to Interference in Cuban Affairs.

Detectives Working on the Green Point Murder Case.

New York, Jan. 30.—Detectives were working busily to-day on the Green Point murder case, in which the head of Wm. W. Simmons was found in the ship yard of John English on Milton street. From the proximity of the head to the river it was thought the body had been thrown in the water. Inquiries were made at the places where Simmons was in the habit of visiting, but no person acknowledged having seen him since Saturday night. Among those with whom the murdered man was most intimate, and to whom the officers looked for most authentic information, was Victor Kretz, who was known also by the name of A. Irois Fuchs. He was helper in [illegible] Kretz was kept in the police office two or three hours and was anxious to get away, saying to his friends that he was afraid he was to be looked up as a witness. The detectives did not think Kretz knew anything about the murder and he was allowed to go home. Among others interviewed were the watchmen [illegible]. One was found who said he saw a man answering the description of Kretz near the dock Saturday morning, and was quite positive about his identity. The detectives then supposed that if Kretz was not the guilty man he knew something about the murder, and they went to his house at 98 North Third street and arrested him. On the way to the station house he purposely cut his hand. It bled freely and he kept rubbing it on his pants. When this was observed an examination of his clothing was made, which revealed a large spot of dried blood on his pants. The detectives visited his house again and found a trunk locked and nailed together so tightly that it was opened with great difficulty. In this they found packed the arms and legs of the murdered victim, and in a boiler they found the trunk of the body skinned and cut up. The entrails had been removed and quick lime put in so as to cause speedy decomposition. There had been a pool of blood on the floor, but efforts had been made to obliterate it by scraping, until the boards were almost white. On the dress of Mrs. Kretz, which had just been washed, were stains of blood. She said she scraped the floor at the request of her husband; that Simmons called at the house on Thursday night and they all had drinks together, Simmons' drinks being stronger than those of the others, and that when he was stupefied with liquor Kretz took a hatchet and chopped his head off, the act being witnessed by his little step daughter. Mrs. Kretz said that she herself was up stairs. When Kretz heard the body was discovered he admitted his guilt and said he had done it because he had found the victim in criminal intercourse with his wife, but Mrs. Kretz denies this. The murder was no doubt committed for the purpose of robbery, as Simmons was always known to have money on his person. The prisoner was also found in possession of Simmons' watch, and the little girl says her father took three dollars and some [illegible] from the pockets of the murdered man. Mrs. Kretz was taken to the station house and locked in a separate cell. The prisoner, who says his real name is Kretz, is an Alsatian by birth and speaks both French and German. He is about forty years of age, [illegible] in height, and has a rather forbidding aspect.

Floods in Ohio.

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Serious floods exist throughout different parts of this State and Indiana, caused by the recent heavy rains, which have swollen the rivers to unusual proportions. The railroads have been more or less affected in different parts of the State, and in some instances trains have been considerably delayed. As the rain has ceased and the waters are beginning to recede, but little additional damage is anticipated.

CONGRESSIONAL.

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.

The House met as in committee of the whole, Eden in the chair, for general debate. No business whatever to be transacted. Very few seats of members were occupied. Schleicher opened the debate with a speech on the financial question. He advocated a speedy return to coin basis, which he held could alone give that confidence to insure investment of capital and consequent business. He would first resume payment of fractional currency next June, redeeming one million a month, beginning with the smallest denomination. Then he would commence to redeem legal tenders next November by selling ten millions in gold or silver monthly for legal tender notes, and destroying all redeemed currency, and this plan he would keep up until it was all destroyed. He calculated this could be done in three and a half years without any shock to business, and then there would be left a national bank circulation redeemable in gold and silver on demand. The means for this operation might be obtained first by the use of all the surplus gold in the Treasury, then by the use of the thirty millions paid annually to the sinking fund, which was no more needed than the payment of past due promissory notes, and then by the issue of one hundred and fifty million 4 per cent bonds and their sale for gold. Contraction formed no part of this scheme for resumption. The only sale of bonds for currency that he would advocate would be for the purpose of obtaining funds to meet the deficiencies of the current expenses of the government caused by appropriation of gold, and then he would have this currency at once paid out to remain in circulation until in its turn it was redeemed, which would occur but once or twice, because as soon as currency had reached par, gold, silver and currency would appear indiscriminately in the receipts of the government as well as in its disbursements.

Speeches on finance were also made by Ward and Campbell, and against protective tariff by Mills, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Sea Mail Service between San Diego and San Francisco.

Washington, Jan. 29.—On the representations of the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of San Diego that this winter mail service is tardy and unreliable, Senator Sargent has secured a department order for a sea mail service between San Francisco and San Diego not oftener than once every five days during February and March.

Hawaiian Reciprocity Treaty Bill.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says the committee on ways and means has assigned Tuesday for consideration of the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Hawaii, ratified by the Senate during the special session of March last. The treaty contains the following provision: The present convention shall take effect as soon as it shall have been approved and proclaimed by His Majesty the King of the Hawaiian Islands and duly proclaimed on the part of the Government of the United States, and not until the law to carry it into operation shall have been passed by the Congress of the United States of America. This provision, it will be seen, requires not only the ratification of the treaty by the Senate but a special act placing the articles covered by it on the free list before it goes into operation. Mr. Wood, who has charge of the bill, will advocate it in committee, and Kelley, who is opposed, will reply. The discussion is expected to be quite sharp. Kelley's opposition is understood to be based not so much on the merits of the question itself as on his general opposition to any measure looking toward the reduction or abolition of the tariff, or the operation of which may be considered as precedent for the negotiation of reciprocity with Canada.

Luttrell says there is no doubt that the ways and means committee will report to the House in favor of his bill to carry the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty into effect.

The Authorship of the Silver Coinage Legal Tender Bill.

The bill regulating the legal tender of silver coinage which has been credited to Sargent exclusively was suggested by Piper and prepared by Sargent and Piper conjointly. Owing to delay in the House call of States for bills, Piper was unexpectedly prevented from introducing it on the same day Sargent introduced his, hence the misapprehension concerning its authorship.

McKee's Trial—Voorhees' Defense.

St. Louis, Jan. 29.—The court room was thronged this morning in anticipation of the argument of D. W. Voorhees closing the defense of Wm. McKee for alleged complicity in the whisky frauds. The doors were opened at 10 o'clock and a limited number admitted, after which the crowd pressed against the doors hour after hour, catching the drift of the address through an open transom. Voorhees poured out his invective upon the accomplices who had sworn for the government, and then compared with them the defendant, a resident of St. Louis for 34 years, whose character had never been called up to the time of this charge. He said that the jurors had never been called on to try a man of such towering character, such a pure exponent of political and social principles. If such a man was to be hounded to death by informers, perjurers and scoundrels what is a life of rectitude worth? Some of the noblest and best heads in old England fell upon the block through dangerous charges of conspiracy sustained by men who turned state's evidence. So fully alive to this danger did England become that for one hundred years not one man has been convicted by such means. If you allow dishonest men to tell their infamous stories and at the same time close the mouth of the honest citizen whom they prosecute, if you give credence to uncorroborated testimony, then we will have the strange spectacle not of honest men prosecuting the lawless, but of rogues and thieves prosecuting good citizens. How can we tell where perjuries and lies end and truth begins? God forbid that the government should need such witnesses as these to represent it. The majority of our 40,000,000 of people are honest, and it is an outrage for the government to come into court surrounded by thieves and perjurers to prosecute good citizens. If McKee could go upon the stand and deny the statements of these scoundrels his story would be entitled to belief—theirs is not. But under the law he is not permitted to do that. It was a cause for congratulation that a Congressional committee is now considering favorably a bill which will permit an honest man to go upon the stand and contradict the perjuries of men who have conspired to ruin him. McKee's denial outweighed the oaths of a thousand perjurers and they had no right to destroy his life on such uncorroborated testimony. The only logical conclusion of Dyer's testimony is that his own witnesses cannot be credited by any jury. If McKee is adjudged guilty, the jury will decide that every man's household is at the mercy of villains and that jury is a weapon against honest men.

Broadhead then took up the witnesses in turn and their testimony and poured forth such a torrent of denunciation and invective against each as has perhaps never been heard here. No words were too bitter, no epithets too opprobrious to cast at these conspirators. They had cheated and robbed the government and attempted to drag down to their own level a pure and honest man. If the government depended on men like these, its sky is gloomy indeed. If such a system prevailed, it is a standing advertisement for rogues and villains to sacrifice reputable citizens to save their blackened selves.

Whitehead followed closing the argument. His speech was unpretentious, devoted to giving the jury in a concise and connected form for the defense. He laid particular stress upon the fact that Dyer had freely admitted the existence of conspiracy, even, too, by evidence of accomplices, but when the same kind of testimony was brought directly against their client, they pronounced it perjured and worthy of no consideration. He pronounced the testimony of Louis Babbitt of Engelke's interview with McKee as extremely improbable. It was absurd that McKee would tell a stranger that he would use his influence with Collector Maguire to have seized goods released.

Mr. Broadhead finished, the court adjourned. The jury is to be instructed Monday and the case will be given to them by noon.

Kerr on the Presidency.

Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—J. H. Beall, of Philadelphia, makes public the following letter from Speaker Kerr concerning the Democratic national ticket proposed in nomination during the present year:

WASHINGTON, Jan 24, 1876.

J. H. Beall, Esq., Philadelphia—Dear Sir: Several days ago, I received by mail, accompanied by your card, an article over your name, published in the Delaware county Democrat of Dec. 31st. I read the article with much interest. Many of its views command my unqualified approval, but I have only time now to thank you for your very kind reference to me in that article and to say that it is not my desire in any degree whatever that my name be used in connection with the National ticket of this year. The Indiana Democrats will present to our next National Convention the name of another of her sons as a candidate for the Presidency, (Gov. Hendricks), in whose advocacy for that high place, I will stand with them in hearty co-operation. My judgment is that our friends this year cannot do better, if so well, than to nominate Gov. Hendricks.

M. C. KERR.

Detectives Working on the Green Point Murder Case.

New York, Jan. 30.—Detectives were working busily to-day on the Green Point murder case in which the head of Wm. W. Simmons was found in the ship yard of John English on Milton street. From the proximity of the head to the river it was thought the body had been thrown in the water. Inquiries were made at the places where Simmons was in the habit of visiting, but no person acknowledged having seen him since Saturday night. Among those with whom the murdered man was most intimate, and to whom the officers looked for most authentic information was Victor Kretz, who was known also by the name of Andreas Fuchs. He was helper in a [illegible] shop with Simmons, and worked by his side and was believed to be the intimate friend of the latter. He appeared to be uneasy under questioning of the police and pretended to speak very poor English. He told the detectives of Simmons being in the habit of visiting some female friends in Green Point, but on making inquiries this was found to be untrue and to be told by Kretz to mislead. Kretz was kept in the police office two or three hours and was anxious to get away, saying to his friends that he was afraid he was to be locked up as a witness. The detectives did not think Kretz knew anything about the murder and he was allowed to go home. Among others interviewed were the watchmen on the docks. One was found who said he saw a man answering the description of Kretz near the dock Saturday morning and was quite positive about his identity. The officers then supposed if Kretz was not the guilty man, he knew something about the murder, and they went to his house at 98 North Third street and arrested him. On the way to the station house he purposely cut his hand. It bled freely and he kept rubbing it on his pants. When this was observed an examination of his clothing was made which revealed a large spot of dried blood on his pants. The detectives visited his house again and found a trunk locked and corded together so tightly that it was opened with great difficulty. In this they found packed the arms and legs of the murdered victim, and in a boiler they found the trunk of the body. The entrails had been removed and quick lime put inside so as to cause speedy decomposition. There had been a pool of blood on the floor, but efforts had been made to obliterate it by scraping, until the boards were almost white. On the dress of Mrs. Kretz which had just been washed were stains of blood. She said she scraped the floor at the request of her husband; that Simmons called at the house on Thursday night and they all had drinks together, Simmons' drinks being stronger than those of the others, and that when he was stupefied with liquor Kretz took a hatchet and chopped his head off, the act being witnessed by his little step daughter. Mrs. Kretz said that she herself was up stairs. When Kretz heard the body was discovered he admitted his guilt and said he had done it because he had found the victim in criminal intercourse with his wife, but Mrs. Kretz denies this. The murder was, no doubt, committed for the purpose of robbery, as Simmons was always known to have money on his person. The prisoner was also found in the possession of Simmons' watch, and the little girl says her father took three dollars and some cents from the pockets of the murdered man. Mrs. Kretz was taken to the station house and locked in a separate cell. The prisoner, who says his real name is Kretz, is an Alsatian by birth and speaks both French and German. He is about forty years of age, stout, 5 feet 5 inches in height, and has a rather forbidding aspect.

Walsh, who was [illegible] and arraigned on the indictment for not producing the wholesale liquor dealers' book on demand of the internal revenue officer. The child was left there in October last by two men who have not since been seen. He gives his name as Charlie and says he came from Cincinnati.

Floods in Ohio.

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Serious floods exist throughout different parts of this State and Indiana, caused by the recent heavy rains which have swollen the rivers to unusual proportions. As the rain has ceased and the waters are beginning to recede, but little additional damage is anticipated.

CONGRESSIONAL.

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.

The House met as in committee of the whole, Eden in the chair, for general debate. No business whatever to be transacted, very few seats of members were occupied. Schleicher opened the debate with a speech on the financial question. He advocated a speedy return to coin basis, which he held could alone give that confidence to insure investment of capital and consequent business. He would first resume payment of fractional currency next June, redeeming one million a month beginning with the smallest denomination. Then he would commence to redeem legal tenders next November, by selling ten millions in gold or silver monthly for legal tender notes and destroying all redeemed currency, and this plan he would keep up until it was all destroyed. He calculated this could be done in three and a half years without any shock to business and then there would be left a national bank circulation, redeemable in gold and silver on demand. The means for this operation might be obtained first by the use of all the surplus gold in the Treasury, then by the use of the thirty millions paid annually to the sinking fund, which was no more sacred than the payment of past due promissory notes, and then by the issue of one hundred and fifty million 5 per cent bonds and their sale for gold. Contraction formed no part of this scheme for resumption. The only sale of bonds for currency that he would advocate, would be for the purpose of obtaining funds to meet the deficiencies of the current expenses of the government caused by appropriation of gold, and then he would have this currency at once paid out to remain in circulation, until in its turn it was redeemed, which would occur but once or twice, because as soon as currency had reached par gold, silver and currency would appear indiscriminately in the receipts of the government, as well as in its disbursements.

Speeches on finance were also made by Ward and Campbell and against protective tariff by Mills, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Sea Mail Service between San Diego and San Francisco.

Washington, Jan. 29.—On the representations of the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of San Diego that this winter mail service is tardy and unreliable, Senator Sargent has secured a department order for a sea mail service between San Francisco and San Diego not oftener than once every five days during February and March.

Right of Way Through Benicia.

The Secretary of War has sent to Congress a report from the chief of the ordnance department, approving the bills for granting the railroad a right of way through Benicia reservation, providing amendments be inserted giving the military authority to prescribe the manner of constructing and the regulations for operating the railroads, so as to prevent all danger to public property.

Hawaiian Reciprocity Treaty Bill.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says the committee on ways and means has assigned Tuesday for consideration of the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Hawaii, ratified by the Senate during the special session of March last. The treaty contains the following provision: "The present convention shall take effect as soon as it shall have been approved and proclaimed by His Majesty the King of the Hawaiian Islands and duly proclaimed on the part of the Government of the United States, and not until the law to carry it into operation shall have been passed by the Congress of the United States of America." This provision, it will be seen, requires not only the ratification of the treaty by the Senate, but a special act placing the articles covered by it on the free list before it goes into operation. Mr. Wood, who has charge of the bill, will advocate it in committee, and Kelley, who is opposed, will reply. The discussion is expected to be quite sharp. Kelley's opposition is understood to be based not so much on the merits of the question itself, as on his general opposition to any measure looking toward the reduction or abolition of the tariff, or the operation of which may be considered as precedent for the negotiation of reciprocity with Canada.

Luttrell says there is no doubt that the ways and means committee will report to the House in favor of his bill to carry the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty into effect.

The Authorship of the Silver Coinage Legal Tender Bill.

The bill regulating the legal tender of silver coinage, which has been credited to Sargent exclusively, was suggested by Piper and prepared by Sargent and Piper conjointly. Owing to delay in the House call of states for bills Piper was unexpectedly prevented from introducing it on the same day Sargent introduced his, hence the misapprehension concerning its authorship.

The successful candidates, classified according to the political opinions avowed in their own addresses to electors, are divided into 65 Monarchists, 12 pure Bonapartists, 93 Republicans and 4 who are described as both Monarchists and Imperialists. Of the Republican candidates proposed by Gambetta in the second ballot, Victor Hugo was elected, and in the third, Peyrot, Irreconcilable Radical, was successful. Among the Republicans elected in the departments are ex-President Thiers, Challemel, LeCour, Pelletan, Esquiros, DelCroix, Favre, Rampont, Oscar de LaFayette, and Feray. Among the successful candidates who had the support of the Government are Waddington, Ventavon, Viscount De Meaux (minister agriculture and commerce), Leon Say (minister of finance), Caillaux (minister of public works), Compte Daru, De Belcastel, Pouyer Quertier, Foisserene De Bort, [illegible], Contant Biron, Marquis De Talhouet, Magne, Tailhand, Duc De Broglie, De Cavardie, General Ladmirault, Machel Gaurubert, De Peyre and Admiral Kerjegu, Raymul Davil, Bonapartist, is elected. Rumor of Buffet's Resignation.

London, Jan. 30.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says a rumor of M. Buffet's resignation is already circulated. This may confidently be declared to be only premature. MONDAY MORNING JANUARY 31 1876

EX SENATOR TRUMBULL IN A NEW ROLE

There was a remarkable meeting held in Chicago on the 8th of January—Old Hickory's day It was a meeting for the purpose of organizing and consolidating the Democratic party of Illinois It can not be said to be a remarkable thing for the Democracy to hold a meeting for such purposes But there were some circumstances incidentally connected with that particular gathering of the 8th of January which made it remarkable Ex Senator Lyman Trumbull, one of the great Republican leaders of former days was present and took an active part in the proceedings delivering an elaborate speech against the Republican party Trumbull has not been in sympathy with the party since 1872 but we should think he would feel like a cat in a strange garret And it appears Mr Trumbull is an example of the truth of the old adage that evil communications corrupt good manners He is especially severe on the Republican party for its "scheme for the resumption of specie payments by the hoarding of gold in the Treasury of the United States" Having by this disingenuous statement of the position of the Republican party on the currency question prepared the minds of his hearers for any further demagoging he might see fit to embark in he proceeded to urge considerations of the danger to the liberties of the Republic which would attend such a policy The logical connection between the premises and the conclusion was not made plain to the comprehension of the average mind though doubtless it was perceived very clearly by the organizers of the Democratic party who listened to it

And then having disposed of the resumption bill, so far as it affects the liberties of the nation, he next arraigned the party for insincerity in the currency business and demanded to know why if the Republicans really wish to return to specie payments they have taken no step in that direction His indignation at the duplicity and incompetence of the Republicans in this matter, was unbounded But he did not deign to suggest how the desired end could be attained, nor what plan would be better adapted to that purpose than the one pursued by the party

We have not heard of any Republicans asserting that the way to resumption under the act of 1875 is entirely free from difficulty, and we venture the assertion that if Mr Trumbull, or any of the Democratic statesmen with whom he finds such congenial fellowship, will only present some more feasible and equally safe plan, it will be received with great thankfulness. These gentlemen who have so clear a comprehension of the subject that they see at once the absurdities of the plan proposed, ought certainly to be able to present a substitute which at least would avoid those absurdities. It is therefore in order to return their compliments and ask, if they want to get back to specie payments, why do they not tell us how it is to be done? They alone seem to possess the secret which it stands the country in so great stead to know. Why then do they not come to the front with their plan speedy and adequate remedy for the evil of an irredeemable currency, instead of standing back and growling at the efforts of those who grope in the blindness of good intentions and insufficient understanding after the desired object? Would not that be the more seemly thing and the more patriotic thing, for men of the standing of Mr Trumbull to do

THE EASTERN PRESS ON THE AMNESTY DEBATE

In this sensible paragraph the New York Times sums up the result of the debate in the House on the Amnesty bill

> The final result of the long debate in the House on the amnesty question is that things remain precisely in the same state as they were before. There has been great cry and little wool All that can be said is that some very warm speeches have been made on a subject which had better have been let alone. Mr Hill has shown what most people knew before, that he is a very good speaker and Mr Cox has had a "tiff" with Mr Randall, while Mr Blaine has carried off the honors as a strategist That is the net result of this little bit of bread to an intolerable quantity of sack We are inclined to think that the Democrats will unanimously pronounce the debate a huge blunder from beginning to end

The Tribune admits that Mr Blaine "won a tactical victory" but cautions him of the danger it may prove a strategical defeat. "Grant all that Mr Blaine says about Jefferson Davis," continues the Tribune "does it follow that having refused to try sentence and punish him we ought to keep on making faces at him? Is it not better, since he is not to be punished, that he should not be distinguished Why not let him go with the common herd and thus award him the only punishment we have left at our command the refusal to make a martyr of him"

The Herald thanks Blaine achieved a parliamentary success but committed a political blunder

The Chicago Tribune applauds Mr Blaine's course in general terms and thinks it will redound to his advantage

So it appears that after proper allowance for the influence of party feeling and personal sympathy [illegible] leading journals of New York do not differ very widely in their views of the results of that remarkable debate The Republican papers in the West are not so ready to criticise the acts of the party leaders, and may be set down as pretty nearly unanimous in their approbation of Blaine's tactics It will be found in the end that no political party takes any advantage from that debate [illegible] all probability the only [illegible] Davis

A KIND OF [illegible]

That is what the [illegible] calls [illegible] to the [illegible] current [illegible] [illegible] the point of [illegible] is that [illegible] which [illegible]

are needed or not That may be good argument though it is rather novel At all events we do not propose just now to controvert it but there is another feature of this kind of demurrer to which the attention of the public should be called We refer to the outcropping of the old Bourbon rancor toward the principle of equal rights which that party has pretended of late to accept in the utmost good faith. In remarking upon the general subject of amendments to the Constitution the Standard thus alludes to the amendments abolishing slavery and securing the civil rights of the colored people

> The first ten are looked upon as part of the Constitution and the eleventh and twelfth were the only genuine amendments that took place until the Radicals came in power and [illegible] mutilated our [illegible] into a rock with the thirteenth fourteenth and fifteenth abortions

So this organ of the Democracy of Oregon professing to speak the sentiments of that party thinks the amendments which have been so cheerfully accepted by them are abortions which mutilate the Constitution Let this be borne in mind when the Democracy of Oregon hereafter proclaim their willingness to stand by the settlement made by those amendments

And here is another Bourbon eruption breaking out toward the close of the same article, which indicates that the old State rights fire is still smouldering and ready to burst forth at any moment

> It should be borne in mind that the Constitution is our system of federal republican government It is a system created by the States for the States, and it should be changed only in the precise measure in which we are willing to change our system of government itself

That mischievous theory was supposed to have been exploded in 1832 by Jackson's famous edict of extermination but the terrible civil war showed how erroneous such a supposition was And now it is thrust forward again showing it has survived that event also The Democracy will do to watch yet

TO THE FRIENDS OF EQUAL RIGHTS

The fourth annual meeting of the Oregon State Woman Suffrage Association is at hand You rightly believe that, if well conducted it will greatly advance our common cause You are interested in its conduct and we are confident will aid in the same We will first report to you what has been done to inaugurate the meeting so that you may intelligently cooperate

The executive committee has issued invitations to a large number of persons to address or otherwise entertain the convention. It has appealed for substantial aid to the Marion County Association That body responds nobly, and promises entertainment for delegates the procuring of Reed's Opera House for the meeting the furnishing of music and other miscellaneous exercises Indeed knowing what we do of the material of the Marion County Association and the character of the plans it has undertaken to carry out we promise you an exhibition of devotion to our cause which will not only work wonders of itself, but astonish you and amply reward you for any aid you may afford Salem proposes to help the good work in a way that will be unique instructive, even amusing and we hope often imitated

The executive committee has requested the county vice presidents to present written reports either in person or by proxy It has also by one of its members, applied to the managers of the Oregon and California railroad for half fare tickets for all traveling on its route to attend the convention The request has been cordially granted with the accustomed liberality of the officers of this road

You see dear friends what has been done and what the executive committee is able to offer you We must do more and have more, and you must help Please contribute

First—Your hearty sympathy If you have backslidden think read, observe and thus renew your faith and allegiance

Secondly—Your influence Labor with your neighbors Convert the unbelievers strengthen the wavering inspire the faithful Use your influence not only to disseminate our principles, but to urge every one to a little practical work for them just now Say to the people come to the meeting Represent the cheapness of the trip and the edification and entertainment to be derived from it

Thirdly—Your plans and suggestions Every little helps Every one doubtless has at least one idea of value in regard to carrying on the meeting Contribute that and as many more as you can We are satisfied that the half dozen of the executive committee cannot originate as many profitable novel entertaining and [illegible] plans as the large number of friends who are interested Let every one help We appeal especially to the county vice presidents We hope that they will send or bring their suggestions without fail Let every county take pride in sending something Please address your suggestions to the undersigned at Oregon City, or send them into the meeting of the executive committee in the Opera House Monday the 7th inst As soon as you read this put your suggestions on paper and address them

Fourthly—Your personal presence and effort at the convention even at a sacrifice You will be needed You will do good and get good

Is there anything more friends that can be said or asked? You probably can think of a thousand schemes for help which do not occur to us Act upon some of them Among other things if you know of persons of ability who would address the convention, or in any way contribute to its interest who are not known to the executive committee or have been inadvertently neglected please send their names to Mrs F F Victor, Portland and they will be properly invited

Work friends with a will Remember that success will be measured by effort. We must do grand things in this grand year

MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 31, 1876

EX-SENATOR TRUMBULL IN A NEW ROLE

There was a remarkable meeting held in Chicago on the 8th of January—Old Hickory's day. It was a meeting for the purpose of organizing and consolidating the Democratic party of Illinois. It can not be said to be a remarkable thing for the Democracy to hold a meeting for such purposes. But there were some circumstances incidentally connected with that particular gathering of the 8th of January which made it remarkable. Ex-Senator Lyman Trumbull, one of the great Republican leaders of former days, was present and took an active part in the proceedings, delivering an elaborate speech against the Republican party. Trumbull has not been in sympathy with the party since 1872, but we should think he would feel like a cat in a strange garret. And it appears Mr Trumbull is an example of the truth of the old adage, that evil communications corrupt good manners. He is especially severe on the Republican party for its "scheme for the resumption of specie payments by the hoarding of gold in the Treasury of the United States." Having by this disingenuous statement of the position of the Republican party on the currency question prepared the mind of his audience for any further demagoging he might see fit to embark in, he proceeded to urge considerations of the danger to the liberties of the Republic which would attend such a policy. The logical connection between the promises and the conclusion was not made plain to the comprehension of the average mind, though doubtless it was perceived very clearly by the organizers of the Democratic party who listened to it.

And then having disposed of the resumption bill, so far as it affects the liberties of the nation, he next arraigned the party for insincerity in the currency business, and demanded to know why, if the Republicans really wish to return to specie payments, they have taken no step in that direction. His indignation at the duplicity and incompetence of the Republicans in this matter, was unbounded. But he did not deign to suggest how the desired end could be attained, nor what plan would be better adapted to that purpose than the one pursued by the party.

We have not heard of any Republicans asserting that the way to resumption, under the act of 1875, is entirely free from difficulty, and we venture the assertion that if Mr. Trumbull, or any of the Democratic statesmen with whom he finds such congenial fellowship, will only present some more feasible and equally safe plan, it will be received with great thankfulness. These gentlemen who have so clear a comprehension of the subject that they see at once the absurdities of the plan proposed, ought certainly to be able to present a substitute which at least would avoid those absurdities. It is therefore in order to return their compliments and ask, if they want to get back to specie payments why do they not tell us how it is to be done? They alone seem to possess the secret which it stands the country in so great stead to know. Why then do they not come to the front with their plain, speedy and adequate remedy for the evil of an irredeemable currency, instead of standing back and growling at the efforts of those who grope in the blindness of good intentions and insufficient understanding after the desired object? Would not that be the more seemly thing, and the more patriotic thing, for men of the standing of Mr. Trumbull to do?

THE EASTERN PRESS ON THE AMNESTY DEBATE

> The final result of the long debate in the House on the amnesty question is that things remain precisely in the same state as they were before. There has been great cry and little wool. All that can be said is that some very warm speeches have been made on a subject which had better have been let alone. Mr. Hill has shown, what most people knew before, that he is a very good speaker, and Mr Cox has had a "tiff" with Mr Randall, while Mr. Blaine has carried off the honors as a strategist. That is the net result of this little bit of bread to an intolerable quantity of sack. We are inclined to think that the Democrats will unanimously pronounce the debate a huge blunder from beginning to end.

The Tribune admits that Mr Blaine "won a tactical victory," but cautions him of the danger it may prove a "strategical defeat." "Grant all that Mr. Blaine says about Jefferson Davis," continues the Tribune, "does it follow that having refused to try, sentence and punish him, we ought to keep on making faces at him? Is it not better, since he is not to be punished, that he should not be distinguished? Why not let him go with the common herd, and thus award him the only punishment we have left at our command—the refusal to make a martyr of him."

The Herald thinks Blaine achieved a parliamentary success but committed a political blunder.

The Chicago Tribune applauds Mr Blaine's course in general terms and thinks it will redound to his advantage.

So it appears that after proper allowance for the influence of party feeling and personal sympathy the leading journals of New York do not differ very widely in their views of the results of that remarkable debate. The Republican papers in the West are not so ready to criticise the acts of the party leaders, and may be set down as pretty nearly unanimous in their approbation of Blaine's tactics. It will be found in the end that no political party takes any advantage from that debate and in all probability the only individual who gains anything by it is the one person who ought to take least namely Jefferson Davis.

A KIND OF DEMURRER

That is what the Weekly Standard mildly calls an article in opposition to Blaine's amendment to the Constitution relative to the public schools. This "kind of demurrer" is not argued at very great length and so far as we are able to perceive the point of the objection it is that amending the Constitution has become too common and the practice ought to be discontinued whether amendments are needed or not. That may be good argument, though it is rather novel. At all events, we do not propose just now to controvert it, but there is another feature of this "kind of demurrer," to which the attention of the public should be called. We refer to the outcropping of the old Bourbon rancor toward the principle of equal rights, which that party has pretended of late to accept in the utmost good faith. In remarking upon the general subject of amendments to the Constitution, the Standard thus alludes to the amendments abolishing slavery and securing the civil rights of the colored people:

> The first ten are looked upon as part of the Constitution and the eleventh and twelfth were the only genuine amendments that took place until the Radicals came in power and mutilated our "foundation rock" with the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth abortions.

So this organ of the Democracy of Oregon, professing to speak the sentiments of that party, thinks the amendments which have been so cheerfully accepted by them, are "abortions" which "mutilate" the Constitution! Let this be borne in mind when the Democracy of Oregon hereafter proclaim their willingness to stand by the settlement made by those amendments.

And here is another Bourbon eruption breaking out toward the close of the same article, which indicates that the old State rights fire is still smouldering and ready to burst forth at any moment:

> It should be borne in mind that the Constitution is our system of federal republican government. It is a system created by the States for the States, and it should be changed only in the precise measure in which we are willing to change our system of government itself.

That mischievous theory was supposed to have been exploded in 1832 by Jackson's famous edict of extermination, but the terrible civil war showed how erroneous such a supposition was. And now, it is thrust forward again, showing it has survived that event also. The Democracy will do to watch yet.

TO THE FRIENDS OF EQUAL RIGHTS.

The fourth annual meeting of the Oregon State Woman Suffrage Association is at hand. You rightly believe that, if well conducted, it will greatly advance our common cause. You are interested in its conduct and we are confident will aid in the same. We will first report to you what has been done to inaugurate the meeting, so that you may intelligently cooperate.

The executive committee has issued invitations to a large number of persons to address or otherwise entertain the convention. It has appealed for substantial aid to the Marion County Association. That body responds nobly, and promises entertainment for delegates, the procuring of Reed's Opera House for the meeting, the furnishing of music and other miscellaneous exercises. Indeed, knowing what we do of the material of the Marion County Association, and the character of the plans it has undertaken to carry out, we promise you an exhibition of devotion to our cause which will not only work wonders of itself, but astonish you and amply reward you for any aid you may afford. Salem proposes to help the good work in a way that will be unique, instructive, even amusing, and we hope often imitated.

The executive committee has requested the county vice presidents to present written reports, either in person or by proxy. It has also, by one of its members, applied to the managers of the Oregon and California railroad for half fare tickets for all traveling on its routes to attend the convention. The request has been cordially granted with the accustomed liberality of the officers of this road.

You see, dear friends, what has been done, and what the executive committee is able to offer you. We must do more and have more, and you must help. Please contribute:

First—Your hearty sympathy. If you have backslidden, think, read, observe and thus renew your faith and allegiance.

Secondly—Your influence. Labor with your neighbors. Convert the unbelievers, strengthen the wavering, inspire the faithful. Use your influence not only to disseminate our principles, but to urge everyone to a little practical work for them just now. Say to the people, come to the meeting. Represent the cheapness of the trip and the edification and entertainment to be derived from it.

Thirdly—Your plans and suggestions. Every little helps. Every one, doubtless, has at least one idea of value in regard to carrying on the meeting. Contribute that and as many more as you can. We are satisfied that the half dozen of the executive committee cannot originate as many profitable novel entertaining and novel plans as the large number of friends who are interested. Let every one help. We appeal especially to the county vice presidents. We hope that they will send or bring their suggestions, without fail. Let every county take pride in sending something. Please address your suggestions to the undersigned at Oregon City or send them into the meeting of the executive committee in the Opera House, Monday, the 7th inst. As soon as you read this, put your suggestions on paper and address them.

Fourthly—Your personal presence and effort at the convention, even at a sacrifice. You will be needed. You will do good and get good.

Is there anything more, friends, that can be said or asked? You probably can think of a thousand schemes for help which do not occur to us. Act upon some of them. Among other things, if you know of persons of ability who would address the convention, or in any way contribute to its interest, who are not known to the executive committee, or have been inadvertently neglected, please send their names to Mrs. F. F. Victor, Portland, and they will be properly invited.

Work friends, with a will. Remember that success will be measured by effort. We must do grand things in this grand year.

J. DEVORE JOHNSON,
Pres't Oregon S. W. S. Association

Take Notice.

All persons attending the fourth annual meeting of the Oregon State Woman Suffrage Association, to convene at Salem on the 8th of February 1876 may procure half fare tickets at any station upon the Oregon & California railroad. Such tickets will be good from Feb 7 to Feb 12.

F. F. VICTOR,
Cor Sec'y O. S. W. S. Association.

The Albany Democrat has received a call from Mr David Shepherd, of Scotland who has been some time in our State in the interest of a large Scotch colony that is soon to emigrate to our shores. He has succeeded in securing a large tract of land a few miles from the city of Albany and he proceeds by the next steamer to California en route to Perthshire, Scotland, where the new colony await his arrival. The emigrants expect to arrive in the spring. It is reported that they will not come empty handed, but will bring a quarter of a million dollars capital.

CITY.

A FATAL FALL.—Ralph Challoner a lad employed on board the British ship Ophelia which is moored at the foot of F street met with a terrible fall Saturday from the effects of which he died several hours afterward It was about 10-30 A M when the shocking casualty occurred Young Challoner and a sailor companion were walking between decks passing from one end of the vessel to the other. The lad was ahead at the time his companion being only a few yards behind him. One of the hatches was open, and it was quite dark Challoner did not know that the hatch was open and walked forward unsuspectingly His companion asked him if something was not in the way in order to cause him to proceed cautiously Before Challoner could answer he stepped through the hatchway and fell headlong to the bottom of the vessel, striking his head against the iron kelson The skull was badly crushed the bone being broken in several places in the region of the right temple Bleeding and insensible, the poor boy was brought on deck and Dr. Ellis summoned A partial examination of the injuries was made when that physician ordered the lad to be removed to St Vincent's Hospital On reaching there Drs Kinney and Ellis performed an operation removing a detached portion of the skull nearly an inch and a half square. This fragment had been driven down into the brain, destroying its tissue, and rendering the recovery of the patient beyond the power of medical skill Nothing could possibly be done to avert death and Challoner lingered in an unconscious condition until 5 30 o clock P M when he quietly breathed his last Deceased was aged 17 years. We understand that he was well educated and very respectably connected His parents reside in England He had studied law with a view of following that profession but changing his mind concluded to make a seaman of himself The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the undertaker's, the body being buried in Lone Fir Cemetery

MR. WHITE'S LECTURE.—A small audience was present at New Market Theater, Saturday evening, to hear Mr E C White's lecture on "The Wonderland." We regret that comparatively so few persons attended, as the entertainment was in every regard interesting and meritorious. The lecturer occupied about an hour, in which he described in very graphic language what he saw during a sixty days' tour through the valley of the Yellowstone river. Throughout, from the opening to the concluding sentence the lecture was replete with interest Mr White's descriptive powers are exceedingly graphic, and the wonderful [illegible] and beauties of the "National Park"—its streams, lakes, natural features, geysers, and grand scenery—were portrayed with a charming vividness. At the close of the lecture, Mr White exhibited a number of views painted upon canvas. These views were transferred from sketches made by Mr W when he was sojourning in "Wonderland" and while they are not fine specimens of artistic art they enjoy the merit of correctness, and gave the audience a clear conception of the natural wonders abounding in that region Both the lecture and panorama were well received, and we hope Mr White will favor the Portland public with a repetition of the same at no remote day Two poetical recitations concluded a very enjoyable evening's entertainment.

PAINE'S BIRTH DAY CELEBRATION.—Yesterday afternoon the Liberal Association of this city celebrated the anniversary of Thomas Paine's birth day, as was previously announced Good Templar Hall was appropriately decorated with the flags of America France and Germany; pictures of Paine and "Paine Memorial Hall," Boston, beautifully wreathed with evergreens, and it was filled to its utmost capacity, large numbers of persons present being unable to find seats The oration of Mr A C Edmonds was listened to throughout with marked attention and frequently applauded The Singing Section of the Portland Turn Verein favored the meeting with four excellent songs, rendered by a choir of fourteen voices eight of whom were ladies Messrs Brenner, Yost, Peterson and Miss Ed[illegible] furnished the instrumental music, which was of a superior order. The poem "Liberty Tree" was sung by the congregation. Mr Metzger read the poem entitled "The Author Hero," which was received with applause Rev. T. L. Eliot then addressed the meeting with a few well considered remarks, after which followed some more music by the [illegible], and another song by the Turners The Association desire us to express their thanks to the Singing Section of the Portland Turn Verein for their participation in the celebration.

OREGONIANS IN WASHINGTON.—A Washington correspondent of the Eugene Journal writes as follows O N, Denny expects to start home in a few days, but will probably stop about two weeks in Ohio where he has friends residing Mrs Kearney (formerly Mrs Stratton) arrived here a few days ago and has gone with her husband who has been here some time, to visit the Centennial buildings at Philadelphia. They will return and remain here some time Jasper W Johnson well known in Oregon before he came East to run Greeley for president and now a resident of Colorado, has arrived in Washington to press some measure for the payment of about one hundred millions of dollars of claims of citizens of Texas against Mexico, one half of which he is to receive for collecting the claims if they are ever paid J J Hoffman who is stationed in New York city, was here recently Joseph W Drew has been quite unwell recently Surveyor General Simpson who was appointed last summer to secure the consent of the Indians to remove from the Yaquina bay country and allow it to be opened for settlement, is working to get the matter arranged in the department, so as to open the country to white settlers without further delay

TRINITY CHURCH GUILD.—The Churchman in speaking of this organization, says "The revenue is from monthly dues, from the sale of useful and ornamental articles made by the fair fingers of the ladies themselves from personal offerings, and on one occasion, from a concert. From these sources they have contributed towards furnishing the church $7 450 25, to the hospital, $202 to the chapel in Watson's Addition $250 for an altar cloth $65, and last December they paid on the church debt $231 Besides all this, and more, they meet the expense of trimming the church for the great festivals on an average $57. There are different committees, with different duties. There is a committee on church decoration on the Sunday school on parish visiting, and on looking after the poor, and one also on hospital visiting One zealous member is now engaged in procuring from the children promises of monthly offerings toward supporting an orphan at the asylum now connected with the Good Samaritan Hospital Mrs. Dr Wilson is directress of the Guild, and Mrs. Robert Hewitt, treasurer

ARRESTED FOR DESERTION.—Two sailors named Fitzgerald and Alexander belonging to the ship City of Tanjore were arrested last Friday, charged with attempting to desert from that vessel They were placed in durance vile and remained in jail until Saturday morning, when both were taken by Constable Perry before Justice Bybee. The trial of the fugitive tars did not come off until Saturday afternoon and during an unguarded moment Fitzgerald gave the constable the slip and walked off whether on his bare toes left [illegible] or right ear, deponent saith not However Alexander was tried and by order of the court remanded to the custody of the captain of the vessel from which he had endeavored to desert Alexander was lodged in the city jail Saturday night and yesterday morning was taken on board the City of Tanjore by [illegible] officer and delivered into the [illegible] master a short time prior to the departure of that vessel from this port

SKATING CONTEST [illegible].—[illegible] Hall was densely [illegible] people Saturday evening to witness the [illegible] for the [illegible] championship [illegible] medal [illegible] by Mr [illegible] The [illegible] Morris late of San Francisco [illegible] son and Thomas Merrill of this city. [illegible] son has held the championship medal for [illegible] past The former [illegible] 35 points [illegible] Thompson [illegible] The audience expressed their approval [illegible] testants performance by hearty applause. The winner must hold the medal one year against all comers, and it is likely another contest will take place soon

DR. LINDSLEY'S LECTURE.—First Presbyterian church was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening by a very fashionable and intelligent audience drawn thither by the announcement that the Rev Dr. Lindsley would lecture on the subject "What did Thomas Paine do for humanity morality and religion to entitle him to pre-eminence?" There was a large number of persons of liberal views and admirers of the religious works of Mr Paine present The lecture is said to have been very fair and impartial and the subject discussed in the speaker's well known logical eloquent manner.

PRINCE UMBERTO—VALPARAISO.—Both the ships Prince Umberto and Valparaiso are lying at Astoria The former vessel is not damaged in the least, the reports to the contrary notwithstanding The master of the vessel states that he continued to beat on and off about the bar for weeks As he was a stranger to the coast he was very cautious about approaching the mouth of the Columbia and consequently did not reach the tug grounds In this way is the remarkably long passage accounted for The Prince Umberto was nearly two months on the way from San Francisco

FEAST OF PURIFICATION.—Wednesday next, Feb 2d, will be the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin—Candlemas Day—and as such will be observed by the Catholics as a holyday of obligation It is customary on this day to bless and distribute candles to the congregation by whom they are carried in solemn procession High Mass will be sung in the Cathedral church at 9 o'clock when the candles will be blessed This day is also observed as a holiday by the Church of England

Again are we called upon to chronicle the death of two who, in the brightness of man and womanhood, have been suddenly cut down and their places around happy hearthstones made vacant by the unrelenting hand of death Howard G Morris one of Salem's most talented and respected young men died about 6 o clock last evening after a brief illness He had been for some time principal of the North Salem school and was loved by his pupils and all who knew him He leaves an aged mother to mourn the loss of what was to her her dearest earthly treasure

THE FIREMEN'S BENEFIT

Possessing as Salem does, as efficient a fire department as can be found anywhere taking into consideration the apparatus provided for service it has often been wondered that their public benefits were not more substantial Various causes may be assigned for this [illegible] among which however was the want of proper management The narrow escape from loss sustained by the county through the exertions of the department in saving our beautiful court house a short time since aroused the people to a sense of their obligation, and initial steps were at once taken to tender the fire laddies' a benefit that would prove what it was intended it should be in every sense of the word The ladies irrespective of sect or creed, took the matter in hand A meeting was called, committees appointed and preliminary arrangements made for a grand time on the evening of Friday, January 28th The city was thoroughly canvassed for provisions the housewives responding in a most liberal manner Col C A. Reed kindly donated the use of the Opera House, rent free, and citizens generally invested liberally in tickets for the entertainment The evening proved one of the most unpleasant of the season and fears were entertained the attendance would be correspondingly small They were groundless, however it taking more than a rainstorm to keep folks at home on an occasion of this kind The crowd continued pouring in until the Opera House was filled to its utmost capacity, more than one third being unable to find seats The hall was tastily decorated with bunting department banners parade ropes, torches and other paraphernalia incident to the occasion Trumpets in an almost unlimited number were displayed on every hand while evergreen and ivy made a pleasing contrast to the glare and glitter of their metallic surroundings The members of the department turned out in full uniform the red shirts entitling the wearer to certain honors and attention that those who did not belong were hardly presumed to take The assemblage was called to order by Col C A Reed who with a few brief remarks stated the object of the meeting, and paid a handsome tribute to the department An excellent choir under the leadership of Dr C H Hall then rendered a selection from Flotow's opera of Martha after which James Walton Esq, made a few pithy remarks and read a poem respectfully dedicated to the department The Wind Whispers Low was then sung by the choir This was followed by a poem written especially for the occasion by S A Clarke Esq, and read by Miss Clara Watt It was a clever effort abounding in local hits and containing brief personals of prominent members of the department which brought down the house on several occasions The poem was well received, and possessed no little real merit, and added materially to the interest of the occasion Another song followed when O C Applegate was introduced who read one of his characteristic poems entitled "Fifty Miles Away" a parody on Sheridan's Ride, and descriptive of the firemen's trip to Portland on the memorable 2d August, 1873, when with Billie Callicott at the throttle the firemen of this city were transported with almost lightning speed to your own fair city, and lent effective aid in extinguishing the fire and saving the St Charles Hotel It was received with great enthusiasm Mrs Blanche Patterson and Miss Ida May then favored the audience with a beautiful duet which was followed by a solo by Prof Kiser of the blind school A tableaux vivant descriptive of the life of a fireman in rescuing life and property was then exhibited which closed the exercises of the evening Refreshments followed which were abundantly provided and heartily appreciated After the old folks went home music was engaged and with Walt Moss and Hale Bullen to us prompters those remaining spent a few hours very pleasantly in tripping the light fantastic The entertainment throughout was a grand success and we trust convinced our firemen that their services are appreciated The receipts will not fall far short of $500 which will be divided up among the companies and added to the general fund

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Permit me, through the columns of your paper, to notice the action of the county commissioners in dividing the City of East Portland into road districts If we had been gobbled up whole it would not have been so bad, but to be cut into four pieces and peddled out is more than we can stand and what makes us more miserable still is to know that we have not even the material among us all to make a road supervisor for they had to appoint all four of the supervisors who have jurisdiction over us from the country There is one thing we object to decidedly that is to have our street commissioner outranked and superceded by a common road supervisor Of course our honorable board of commissioners know what they are about—but we would like to know how they are going to carry out the programme Section 34 of our charter reads thus—

Section 34 The territory within the limits of the City of East Portland is hereby excepted out of the jurisdiction of the county court of Multnomah county upon the following subjects to wit

To divide the same or any part thereof into road districts or to appoint supervisors of road districts for any part thereof or to lay out, open or work on the highways therein, and the inhabitants of said city shall be exempt from the payment of road taxes or the assessment upon property within said city for road work Provided That the board of trustees may assess and cause to be collected annually from each male inhabitant of said city between twenty one and fifty years of age (except persons who are a public charge or too infirm to perform labor) the sum of four dollars and the amount of money so collected shall be applied to the repair of streets in the said city, Provided further, that the street commissioner of said city is authorized to collect the same and for that purpose shall possess the same power and authority and have the remedy granted by the general laws of this State to road supervisors for the collection of road tax, [As amended by act of October 2?, 1872]

Now we wish to ask a few plain questions Which is the higher power in the State—the legislature or the county court of Multnomah county? Who is to pay us our money back for the expense of building and repairing the county bridges and roads within the city limits for the last four years? Why did the commissioners leave us out of their jurisdiction until we had all the work done and then take us in? What will be the consequence when our street commissioner, in gathering road tax, shall meet the supervisors at the same place on the same business—an irresistible body coming in contact with one that is immovable? Until all these questions are answered we advise the citizens of East Portland to pay their road tax to the street commissioner, and when the road supervisors come around collecting, show them the commissioner's receipts and send them on their way rejoicing

Will Brother Hanson or somebody arise and explain?

CITY.

A FATAL FALL.—Ralph Challoner a lad employed on board the British ship Ophelia which is moored at the foot of I street met with a terrible fall Saturday from the effects of which he died several hours afterward It was about 10:30 A M when the shocking casualty occurred Young Challoner and a small companion were walking 'tween decks passing from one end of the vessel to the other The lad was ahead at the time his companion being only a few yards behind him One of the hatches was open, and it was quite dark Challoner did not know that the hatch was open and walked forward unsuspectingly His companion asked him if something was not in the way in order to cause him to proceed cautiously Before Challoner could answer he stepped through the hatchway and fell headlong to the bottom of the vessel striking his head against the iron kelson The skull was badly crushed the bone being broken in several places in the region of the right temple Bleeding and insensible the poor boy was brought on deck and Dr Ellis summoned A partial examination of the injuries was made when that physician ordered the lad to be removed to St Vincent's Hospital On reaching there Drs Kinney and Ellis performed an operation removing a detached portion of the skull nearly an inch and a half square This fragment had been driven down into the brain, destroying its tissue, and rendering the recovery of the patient beyond the power of medical skill Nothing could possibly be done to avert death and Challoner lingered in an unconscious condition until 5 10 o clock P M when he quietly breathed his last Deceased was aged 17 years We understand that he was well educated and very respectably connected His parents reside in England He had studied law with a view of following that profession but changing his mind concluded to make a seaman of himself The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the undertaker's the body being buried in Lone Fir Cemetery

MR WHITE'S LECTURE.—A small audience was present at New Market Theater Saturday evening, to hear Mr R C White's lecture on "The Wonderland" We regret that comparatively so few persons attended, as the entertainment was in every regard interesting and meritorious The lecturer occupied about an hour in which he described in very graphic language what he saw during a sixty days tour through the valley of the Yellowstone river Throughout, from the opening to the concluding sentence the lecture was replete with interest Mr White's descriptive powers are exceedingly graphic, and the wonderful [illegible] and beauties of the "National Park"—its streams lakes natural features geysers, and grand scenery—were portrayed with a charming vividness At the close of the lecture Mr White exhibited a number of views painted upon canvas These views were transferred from sketches made by Mr W when he was sojourning in 'Wonderland' and while they are not fine specimens of artistic art, they enjoy the merit of correctness and gave the audience a clear conception of the natural wonders abounding in that region Both the lecture and panorama were well received, and we hope Mr White will favor the Portland public with a repetition of the same at no remote day Two poetical recitations concluded a very enjoyable evening's entertainment.

PAINE'S BIRTH DAY CELEBRATION.—Yesterday afternoon the Liberal Association of this city celebrated the anniversary of Thomas Paine's birth day as was previously announced Good Templar Hall was appropriately decorated with the flags of America France and Germany, pictures of Paine and "Paine Memorial Hall," Boston, beautifully wreathed with evergreens, and it was filled to its utmost capacity, large numbers of persons present being unable to find seats The oration of Mr A C Edmonds was listened to throughout with marked attention, and frequently applauded The Singing Section of the Portland Turn Verein favored the meeting with four excellent songs, rendered by a choir of fourteen voices, eight of whom were ladies Messrs Brentner, Yost, Peterson and Miss Edmonds furnished the instrumental music, which was of a superior order The poem "Liberty Tree" was sung by the congregation. Mr Metzger read the poem entitled "The Author Hero," which was received with applause. Rev. T. L. Eliot then addressed the meeting with a few well considered remarks, after which followed some more music by the band, and another song by the Turners The Association desire us to express their thanks to the Singing Section of the Portland Turn Verein for their participation in the celebration.

OREGONIANS IN WASHINGTON.—A Washington correspondent of the Eugene Journal writes as follows O N Denny expects to start home in a few days, but will probably stop about two weeks in Ohio where he has friends residing Mrs Kearney (formerly Mrs Stratton) arrived here a few days ago and has gone with her husband who has been here some time, to visit the Centennial buildings at Philadelphia They will return and remain here some time Jasper W Johnson well known in Oregon before he came East to run Greeley for president and now a resident of Colorado, has arrived in Washington to press some measure for the payment of about one hundred millions of dollars of claims of citizens of Texas against Mexico one half of which he is to receive for collecting the claims if they are ever paid J J Hoffman who is stationed in New York city was here recently Joseph W Drew has been quite unwell recently Surveyor General Simpson who was appointed last summer to secure the consent of the Indians to remove from the Yaquina bay country and allow it to be opened for settlement, is working to get the matter arranged in the department so as to open the country to white settlers without further delay

TRINITY CHURCH GUILD.—The Churchman in speaking of this organization, says "The revenue is from monthly dues, from the sale of useful and ornamental articles made by the fair fingers of the ladies themselves from personal offerings, and on one occasion, from a concert From these sources they have contributed towards furnishing the church $289 25, to the hospital, $201, to the chapel in Watson's Addition $250 for an altar cloth $65, and last December they paid on the church debt $234 Besides all this, and more they meet the expense of trimming the church for the great festivals on an average $57. There are different committees, with different duties There is a committee on church decoration on the Sunday school on parish visiting, and on looking after the poor and one also on hospital visiting One zealous member is now engaged in procuring from the children promises of monthly offerings toward supporting an orphan at the asylum now connected with the Good Samaritan Hospital Mrs. Dr Wilson is directress of the Guild and Mrs. Robert Hewitt, treasurer

ARRESTED FOR DESERTION.—Two sailors named Fitzgerald and Alexander, belonging to the ship City of Tanjore were arrested last Friday, charged with attempting to desert from that vessel They were placed in durance vile and remained in jail until Saturday morning, when both were taken by Constable Perry before Justice Bybee The trial of the fugitive tars did not come off until Saturday afternoon, and during an unguarded moment Fitzgerald gave the constable the slip and walked off whether on his button left cock or right ear, deponent saith not However Alexander was tried and by order of the court remanded to the custody of the captain of the vessel from which he had endeavored to desert Alexander was lodged in the city jail Saturday night and yesterday morning was taken on board the City of Tanjore by a police officer and delivered into the custody of the master a short time prior to the departure of that vessel from this port

SKATING CONTEST.—Moffitt's [illegible] Hall was densely filled with people Saturday evening to witness the contest for the championship and the [illegible] medal presented by Mr I A W[illegible] The contestants were [illegible] Morris late of San Francisco [illegible] son and Chas Mont of this city Mr [illegible] son has held the champion medal for [illegible] past The former won the [illegible] 30 points Mead [illegible] and Thompson [illegible] The audience expressed their appreciation of the contestants' performance by hearty applause The winner must hold the medal one year against all comers and it is likely that another contest will take place soon

DR. LINDSLEY'S LECTURE.—First Presbyterian church was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening by a very fashionable and intelligent audience drawn thither by the announcement that the Rev Dr. Lindsley would lecture on the subject "What did Thomas Paine do for humanity morality and religion to entitle him to pre eminence?" There was a large number of persons of liberal views and admirers of the religious works of Mr Paine present. The lecture is said to have been very fair and impartial and the subject discussed in the speaker's well known logical eloquent manner

PRINCE UMBERTO—VALPARAISO.—Both the ships Prince Umberto and Valparaiso are lying at Astoria The former vessel is not damaged in the least, the reports to the contrary notwithstanding The master of the vessel states that he continued to beat on and off about the bar for weeks As he was a stranger to the coast he was very cautious about approaching the mouth of the Columbia and consequently did not reach the tug grounds In this way is the remarkably long passage accounted for The Prince Umberto was nearly two months on the way from San Francisco

FEAST OF PURIFICATION.—Wednesday next Feb 2d, will be the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin—Candlemas Day and as such will be observed by the Catholics as a holyday of obligation It is customary on this day to bless and distribute candles to the congregation by whom they are carried in solemn procession High Mass will be sung in the Cathedral church, at 9 o clock when the candles will be blessed. This day is also observed as a holiday by the Church of England

Possessing as Salem does as efficient a fire department as can be found anywhere taking into consideration the apparatus provided for service it has often been wondered that their public benefits were not more substantial Various causes may be assigned for this chief among which however was the want of proper management The narrow escape from loss sustained by the county through the exertions of the department in saving our beautiful court house a short time since aroused the people to a sense of their obligations and initial steps were at once taken to tender the fire laddies' a benefit that would prove what it was intended it should be in every sense of the word The ladies irrespective of sect or creed, took the matter in hand A meeting was called, committees appointed and preliminary arrangements made for a grand time on the evening of Friday, January 28th The city was thoroughly canvassed for provisions the housewives responding in a most liberal manner Col C A Reed kindly donated the use of the Opera House rent free and citizens generally invested liberally in tickets for the entertainment The evening proved one of the most unpleasant of the season and fears were entertained the attendance would be correspondingly small They were groundless, however, it taking more than a [illegible] to keep folks at home on an occasion of this kind The crowd continued pouring in until the Opera House was filled to its utmost capacity more than one third being unable to find seats The hall was tastily decorated with bunting, department banners parade ropes, torches and other paraphernalia incident to the occasion Trumpets in an almost unlimited number were displayed on every hand while evergreen and ivy made a pleasing contrast to the glare and glitter of their metallic surroundings The members of the department turned out in full uniform the red shirts entitling the wearer to certain honors and attention that those who did not belong were hardly presumed to take The assemblage was called to order by Col C A Reed who, with a few brief remarks stated the object of the meeting and paid a handsome tribute to the department An excellent choir under the leadership of Dr C H Hall then rendered a selection from Flotow's opera of Martha after which James Walton made a few pithy remarks and read a poem respectfully dedicated to the department "The Wind Whispers Low" was then sung by the choir This was followed by a poem written especially for the occasion by S A Clarke Esq, and read by Miss Clara Watt It was a clever effort abounding in local hits and containing brief personals of prominent members of the department which brought down the house on several occasions The poem was well received and possessed no little real merit and added materially to the interest of the occasion Another song followed when O C Applegate was introduced who read one of his characteristic poems entitled "Fifty Miles Away" a parody on Sheridan's Ride,' and descriptive of the firemen's trip to Portland on the memorable 2d August 1873 when with Belle Callicott at the throttle the firemen of this city were transported with almost lightning speed to your own fair city, and lent effectual aid in extinguishing the fire and saving the St Charles Hotel It was received with great enthusiasm Mrs Blanche Patterson and Miss Ida May then favored the audience with a beautiful duet which was followed by a solo by Prof Knox of the blind school A tableau vivant descriptive of the life of a fireman in rescuing life and property was then exhibited which closed the exercises of the evening Refreshments followed which were abundantly provided and heartily appreciated After the old folks went home music was engaged and with Walt Moss and Hale Patton as prompters those remaining spent a few hours very pleasantly in tripping the light fantastic The entertainment throughout was a grand success and we trust convinced our firemen that their services are appreciated The receipts will not fall far short of $600 which will be divided up among the companies and added to the general fund

WIDE AWAKE

ROAD DISTRICTS IN EAST PORTLAND.

EAST PORTLAND Jan 29 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Permit me through the columns of your paper to notice the action of the county commissioners in dividing the city of East Portland into road districts If we had been gobbled up whole it would not have been so bad but to be cut into four pieces and parceled out is more than we can stand and what makes us more miserable still is to know that we have not even the material among us all to make a road supervisor for they had to appoint [illegible] four of the supervisors who have jurisdiction over us from the country There is one thing we object to decidedly, that is to have our street commissioner outranked and superseded by a common road supervisor Of course our honorable board of commissioners knew what they are about—but we would like to know how they are going to carry out the programme Section 31 of our charter reads thus—

Section 31 The territory within the limits of the City of East Portland is hereby excepted out of the jurisdiction of the county court of Multnomah county upon the following subjects to wit.

To divide the same or any part thereof into road districts or to appoint supervisors of road districts for any part thereof or to lay out open or work on the highways thereon, and the inhabitants of said city shall be exempt from the payment of road taxes or the assessment upon property within said city for road work Provided That the board of trustees may assess and cause to be collected annually from each male inhabitant of said city between twenty one and fifty years of age (except persons who are a public charge, or too infirm to perform labor) the sum of four dollars and the amount of money so collected shall be applied to the repair of streets in the said city, Provided further, that the street commissioner of said city is authorized to collect the same and for that purpose shall possess the same power and authority and have the remedy granted by the general laws of this State to road supervisors for the collection of road tax [As amended by act of October 25 1872]

Now we wish to ask a few plain questions Which is the higher power in the State,—the Legislature or the county court of Multnomah county? Who is to pay us our money back or the expense of building and repairing the county bridges and roads within the city limits for the last four years? Why did the commissioners leave us out of their jurisdiction until we had all the work done, and then take us in? What will be the consequence when our street commissioner, in gathering road tax, shall meet the supervisors at the same place on the same business—an irresistible body coming in contact with one that is immovable? Until all these questions are answered we advise the citizens of East Portland to pay their road tax to the street commissioner, and when the road supervisors come around collecting, show them the commissioner's receipts and send them on their way rejoicing

Such, however, is now the completeness of the system by which the mercantile agency of R G Dun & Co arrive at the conclusions which they [illegible] to the world in their annual circulars that [illegible] to be relied on as the best authority on this subject. From their circular issued on the [illegible] some important facts.

The number of failures in all the United States shows a large increase as compared with those of previous years, while the proportionate liability is somewhat less than the average. The following are the figures:

Years	No of Failures	Gross Liabilities	Average Liability

Of the [illegible] in 1875 1,730 in number and $40,[illegible] were in the New England States, 2,3[illegible] in number [illegible] in amount in the Middle States, 2,[illegible] failures amounting to $46,478,861 in the Western States and 1,1[illegible] in number and $[illegible] in the southern States.

Oregon occupies a place in the circular. The past year [illegible] failures are reported for the twelve months [illegible] Of these 18 failures [illegible] occurred in the first quarter of the year, eight in the second, two in the third and three in the fourth. The amount for the five failures occurring in our State during the first three months of last year, however, amount to $89,370, while the five failures [illegible] in the last six months of the year amount to only $16,[illegible]. Other facts gathered from the circular we may give hereafter.

Wheat Crops and Market.

As we gather from our exchanges from the interior of the State and various other sources, we are led to the conclusion that a very large proportion of the surplus wheat crop of our State from last harvest is yet unsold. A good number of the leading warehouses report large quantities on hand, and in some neighborhoods the farmers have a great deal of their surplus yet in their granaries at home. The census takers of the various counties have made their reports to the Secretary of State, and their figures, which we presume are for the product of 1874, are 6,078,000 bushels, with only the county of Union producing any surplus to bear from. There was shipped of that year's product, say 3,000,000 bushels. Taking the figures for 1874 as a criterion, the crop of 1875 must have at least 6,000,000 bushels, leaving near 4,000,000 for shipment. Of this, the exports, so far, amount to 2,[illegible] 148 bushels, reckoning the flour as so much wheat, leaving a surplus of about 1,600,000 bushels, or at least [illegible] tons yet for shipment, of which the vessels now at hand will carry nearly 8,000 tons. The shipments since Jan 1st amount to about 3,500,000 bushels wheat and 8,000 bushels flour. The movement seaward is now quite large, and the fleet of vessels here will soon be much reduced in number. It is now maintained that without a very important change in affairs the amount of wheat carried over to next harvest in our State will be larger than ever before.

Prices have been reduced by most buyers here to $1 [illegible] per cental, and are not very firm at that figure.

PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER.

AS A PROOF OF WHAT I HAVE HERETOFORE stated to the people of Oregon, I give below a letter from the Plummer Fruit Drying Co of East Portland. After the close of business of 1875 fully endorsing it after using it one entire season, and as a proof to substantiate what they say, they now contemplate putting up another Dryer of the same capacity of the one they now have, which will increase their capacity to five hundred bushels of apples per day. Having now located here in Portland for the purpose of supplying the demand for Fruit Dryers in Oregon and Washington Territory, I can supply these dryers at a cost of from $[illegible] to $[illegible] according to capacity. Warranted to dry from 8 to 16 bushels of apples per hour at a small cost for labor and fuel. These machines being so cheap and simple in construction they cannot fail to supersede all other known machines. I would also say to the fruit growers that I have invented a Machine (and am now waiting for a patent) that will cut and spread the fruit on the trays with a very small amount of labor. I also have invented a Peach Parer that is on an entirely new principle, paring soft as well as hard; does its work well with great speed, and slices and pits the fruit ready for the Dryer in the best possible manner and at a great saving in quantity of fruit.

FRUIT DRYER TESTIMONIALS.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan 4th 1876.

MR. W. S. PLUMMER—Dear Sir: As this is a time when all are much interested in Fruit Drying, we think that in justice to you and for the information of the public it is but right and proper that we should give all the information that we can. Now after having operated your Dryer during this season we feel warranted in saying that for the amount of money invested we still believe as we did from the start that your Dryer is the best Dryer yet introduced into this country. The capacity of the Dryer we find to be about 8 (eight) bushels per hour. The Dried fruit we claim to be as good as any, though perhaps not as much bleached as the "Alden" Fruit, and we are satisfied that we can produce Dried Fruit at less expense than the "Alden." The stockholders of our Company manifested their confidence in the Plummer Dryer at our meeting last Saturday by a unanimous vote to increase the capital stock $12,000 (twelve thousand dollars) for the purpose of adding one more Dryer to the present one and making other improvements for next season. We will further say that we believe that by an improvement made by the patentee in the Heater and Fan that there will be an increase of capacity and a saving of Fuel.

H. HANSON, President.

J S NEWELL, Secretary and Superintendent.

EAST PORTLAND, Dec 13 1875.

MR. PLUMMER—Dear Sir: I have been watching both the Alden and your Fruit Dryer the past season so as to determine which was the best Machine for drying Prunes. I visited the Alden Dryer at Oregon City and examined the Prunes dried on that Machine, and I have also examined several lots dried on your Machine at East Portland, and my opinion is that your Dryer is far the best Machine for drying Prunes. My reasons are these: Your Machine dries them without bursting or cracking, while I noticed that a great deal of the fruit dried on the Alden Machine was bursted open, and after a Prune is bursted in drying it is worthless for market as a Prune. Therefore I can recommend your Machine for drying Prunes or anything else. Yours truly,

H. W. PRETTYMAN, Proprietor of Railroad Nursery.

PORTLAND, Jan 10 1876.

MR. W. S. PLUMMER—Dear Sir: The Dryer purchased by us from you for the purpose of drying our Onions has now been in operation two months and DOES GOOD WORK. All those that have tried the product pronounce it the very best quality.

Yours truly, [illegible] & CO.

As far as may be judged by the comparative number of business failures in the country at large the financial pressure was greater in 1875 than in any former year since 1869. Both because there have been more reports to report and because the newspapers have given more prominence to this class of items the public have been more familiar than ever before with these occurrences. The consequence has been to exaggerate in some degree their importance in public estimation and to create more apprehension than the actual circumstances justified. Any source which approximates reliability in a statement of the number of business failures, their amount, locality and effect, is therefore considered worthy of the especial attention of the business community. Such, however, is now the completeness of the system by which the mercantile agency of R G Dun & Co arrive at the conclusions which they give to the world in their annual circulars that they are coming to be relied on as the best authority on this subject. From their circular issued on the 1st we gather some important facts.

The number of failures in all the United States show a large increase as compared with those of previous years, while the proportionate liability is somewhat less than the average. The following are the figures:

Years	No of Failures	Gross Liabilities	Average Liability
1875	7 740	$201,060 353	$25,960
1874	5 830	155,239 000	26 626
1873	5,183	228,499 000	44 086
1872	4 069	121,056 000	33 724
1871	2 915	85,252,000	34 010

Of the failures in 1875, 1 335 in number and $40,013,161 were in the New England States; 2,395 in number and $88 [illegible] 540 in amount in the Middle States; 2,328 failures amounting to $36 473 864 in the Western States, and 1,333 in number and $36,277,777 in the Southern States.

Oregon occupies a place in the circular the past year and 18 failures are reported for the twelve months, the liabilities being $ 19 118. Of these 18 failures five occurred in the first quarter of the year, eight in the second, two in the third and three in the fourth. The amount for the five failures occurring in our State during the first three months of last year however amount to $88 [illegible] while the last failures reported in the last six months of the year amount to only $16 500. Other facts gathered from the circular we may give hereafter.

Wheat Crops and Market.

As we gather from our exchanges from the interior of the State and various other sources we are led to the conclusion that a very large proportion of the surplus wheat crop of our State from last harvest is yet unsold. A good number of the leading warehouses report large quantities on hand and in some neighborhoods the farmers have a great deal of their surplus yet in their granaries at home. The census takers of the various counties have made their reports to the Secretary of State and their figures which we presume are for the product of 1874 are 5,078 000 bushels with only the county of Union producing any surplus to hear from. There was shipped of that year's product, say 3 100 000 bushels. Taking the figures for 1874 as a criterion the crop of 1875, must have at least 6 000 000 bushels, leaving near 4,000,000 for shipment. Of this, the exports, so far, amount to 2,3[illegible]149 bushels reckoning the flour as so much wheat, leaving a surplus of about 1 660,000 bushels; or at least 48,000 tons yet for shipment, of which the vessels now at hand will carry nearly 8 000 tons. The shipments since Jan. 1st amount to about 350,000 bushels wheat and 8,000 bushels flour. The movement seaward is now quite large and the fleet of vessels here will soon be much reduced in number. It is now maintained that without a very important change in affairs the amount of wheat carried over to next harvest in our State will be larger than ever before.

Prices have been reduced by most buyers here to $1 65 per cental and are not very firm at that figure.

PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER.

AS A PROOF OF WHAT I HAVE HERETOFORE stated to the people of Oregon, I give below a letter from the Plummer Fruit Drying Co of East Portland. After the close of business of 1875 fully endorsing it after using it one entire season and as a proof to substantiate what they say, they now contemplate putting up another Dryer of the same capacity of the one they now have which will increase their capacity to five hundred bushels of apples per day. Having now located here in Portland for the purpose of supplying the demand for Fruit Dryers in Oregon and Washington Territory I can supply these dryers at a cost of from $1 000 to $4 000 according to capacity. Warranted to dry from 8 to 16 bushels of apples per hour at a small cost for labor and fuel. These machines being so cheap and simple in construction they cannot fail to supersede all other known machines. I would also say to the fruit growers that I have invented a Machine (and am now waiting for a patent) that will cut and spread the fruit on the trays with a very small amount of labor. I also have invented a Peach Parer that is on an entirely new principle paring soft as well as hard; does its work well with great speed, and slices and pits the fruit ready for the Dryer in the best possible manner and at a great saving in quantity of fruit.

FRUIT DRYER TESTIMONIALS.

MR. W S PLUMMER—Dear Sir: As this is a time when all are much interested in Fruit Drying we think that in justice to you and for the information of the public it is but right and proper that we should give all the information that we can. Now after having operated your Dryer during this season we feel warranted in saying that for the amount of money invested we still believe as we did from the start that your Dryer is the best Dryer yet introduced into this country. The capacity of the Dryer we find to be about 8 (eight) bushels per hour. The Dried fruit we claim to be as good as any though perhaps not as much bleached as the "Alden" Fruit, and we are satisfied that we can produce Dried Fruit at less expense than the "Alden." The stockholders of our Company manifested their confidence in the Plummer Dryer at our meeting last Saturday by a unanimous vote to increase the capital stock $12 000 (twelve thousand dollars) for the purpose of adding one more Dryer to the present one and making other improvements for next season. We will further say that we believe that by an improvement made by the patentee in the Heater and Fan that there will be an increase of capacity and a saving of Fuel.

H HANSON President
J S NEWELL Secretary and Superintendent

EAST PORTLAND Dec 13 1875

MR. PLUMMER—Dear Sir: I have been watching both the Alden and your Fruit Dryer the past season so as to determine which was the best Machine for drying Prunes. I visited the Alden Dryer at Oregon City, and examined the Prunes dried on that Machine and I have also examined several lots dried on your Machine at East Portland and my opinion is that your Dryer is far the best Machine for drying Prunes. My reasons are these: Your Machine dries them without bursting or cracking, while I noticed that a great deal of the fruit dried on the Alden Machine was bursted open and after a Prune is bursted in drying it is worthless for market as a Prune; therefore I can recommend your Machine for drying Prunes or any thing else. Yours truly
